

CN-TB501 100 Pack Connector the Perfect Solution for Connecting Your IP Camera to an NVR or Managing any Security Equipment on Your Local Area Network

Introducing the CN-TB501 100 Pack Connector - the perfect solution for connecting your IP Camera to an NVR or managing any security equipment on your Local Area Network (LAN). This high-quality, eight-pin RJ45 connector is a standardized interface that offers seamless and reliable communication between devices.

Originally developed for telephone communications, the RJ45 connector has now become a widely used interface in various applications. It is the go-to choice for connecting IP Cameras to NVRs as well as other security equipment on LAN's. This makes the CN-TB501 connector an essential component for any security system.

- Eight-pin design
- Compatibility with LAN connections
- Suitable for various applications
- Registered Jack-45 abbreviation
- Durable and reliable
- Original purpose for telephone communications
- Connecting Cameras to NVR
- Connecting Cameras to POE
- Connecting routers and switches
- Standardization for compatibility
- Easy to install and use
- Secure and reliable connections